

Centralia is currently experiencing power outages on the south side of town. Please use extreme caution if you have to be out this morning! There are several reports of arcing or blown transformers. We do have Electric, Fire and Police crews out working on the problem, and we will update here with new information.

